

You should copy Indiana's very effective telemarketing law. At the very least, do not undermine it with your own watered down version.

Telemarketers are parasites using the phone that 'I pay for' to conduct their business:(Perhaps the government that wants to protect these parasites would like to pay for all of our phones.

Lois Barger